6. British Government, Parliamentary Act - Colonial Department Toleration Laws, Jamaica. Return to an Address of The Honourable The House of Commons ; dated 24 June 1831 ; for, Copies of the Laws passed by the several Colonial Legislatures for the Relief of the Catholics, the Removal of the Disabilities of the Jews, and of Free Persons of Colour, during the last Six Years. (As far as relates to the Island of Jamaica.) London, Colonial Department, Downing Street, 1832. [6951]

Folio, unbound, sewn. 22.5cm, 10 + (1) pp. Overall very good condition, light foxing to first page, an inked number on the last page. The document contains six laws passed by the Jamaican legislature from 1826 to 1830 expanding the rights of the Island's Jews, Catholics, Indians and Blacks. Two laws deal exclusively with the Jewish community. The first (1827) was "an act to entitle Jews, born within the legiance of the King's to the rights and privileges of other natural born British subjects".

The second Act (1830) repealed an earlier law that limited the right to vote and hold office in Kingston to professing Christians: "Whereas doubts have been entertained whether persons professing the Jewish Religion are entitled to exercise and enjoy the same rights, privileges and immunities and advantages to which His Majesty's other natural born subjects are entitled within this Island ... Such doubts ought no longer to exist."

Item 6 [6951]
