The Sarajevo Haggadah Item No 1

1. Muller, D H and J von Schlosser [First Printing of the famous SARAJEVO HAGGADAH] Die Haggadah Von Sarajevo. Ein Spanisch-Judische Bilderhandshrift Des Mittelalters. Von Dav. Heinr. Muller und Julius v. Schlosser. Nebst einem Anhang von Prof Dr. David Kaufmann in Budapest. Mit einem Frontispiz in Chromotypie, 38 Lichtdrucktafeln, 18 Textabbildungen und einem Atlas von 35 Tafeln. Wien, Alfred Holder, 1898. [10375] £2,450

First edition. Half morocco binding, 27cm, gilt title and raised bands. Text volume 316 pp + plate volume 35 plates all bound in one volume. Text in German. Some scuffing to top and lower part of spine and corners. A couple of stains to top board. Most plates are two tone, a few are in colour. This was the first publication of the stunning "Sarajevo Haggadah" one of the most important Hebrew illuminated manuscripts. It includes essays by Heinrich Muller and Julius von Schlosser on the Haggadah and aspects of it and a very important essay by David Kaufmann on Jewish illustrations of manuscripts. Cecil Roth wrote an introduction to the edition of the Sarajevo Haggadah published in 1963. He writes "The superb medieval codex known as the Sarajevo Haggadah is certainly the most famous of Hebrew illuminated manuscripts: it is among the most beautiful: it is perhaps the most important. Its recorded history goes back only some seventy years. One day in 1894.....a child in Sarajevo came to the Jewish communal infant-school bearing an old Hebrew service book under his arm. His father had recently died leaving the family in straitened circumstances and they needed to realise what was possible from the sale of the volume it passed to the Bosnian National Museum.

The discovery soon attracted the attention of the eminent scholars and art-historians of Vienna. A magnificent publication was issued before long, devoted to the description and consideration of this newly-found treasure. This was the product of collaboration between the Jewish liturgical expert Heinrich Muller and the non-Jewish art-historian Julius von Schlosser, their own work being supplemented by a most important excursus on medieval Jewish illuminated manuscripts generally, by the Budapest scholar-collector David Kaufmann, the only person who had hitherto studied the subject systematically....." This is the magnificent volume referred to by Cecil Roth. Yudlov 2053

2. Photographische Dokumentensammlung über die Entrechtung, Ächtung und Vernichtung der Juden in Deutschland seit der Regierung Adolf Hitler. [Photographic collection of documents about the deprivation of rights, outlawing and destruction of the Jewish Community in Germany since the Government of Adolf Hitler] c 1930s [10377] £1,250

Oblong album 36cm wide x 33.8 cm. A rare photographic album. Worldcat locates only one copy which is in Switzerland. A very interesting collection of photographs, like press photographs, each one is captioned, and there is one on each right hand page. They all date from the early period of the Nazis 1933 to 1936. The entire album therefore is pre-Holocaust and deals with the anti-Jewish decrees and activity leading up to the Holocaust. There are 62 pages of photographs with a contents list of the photographs at the beginning of the album and each photograph has a separate caption underneath it. The last photograph is badly damaged by damp. Some images are made up of 2 separate photographs joined together. A number of the photographs relate to the boycott of Jewish businesses from 1933 onwards, there are also numerous photographs of documents and newspaper articles, pictures of anti-Jewish slogans, one over a bridge, a Jewish cemetery daubed with Swastikas, anti-Jewish posters, several are excerpts from Der Stürmer, street scenes, etc (Photographic collection of documents about the deprivation of rights, outlawing of the Jews in Germany since the government of Adolf Hitler.) All the text and photographs are in German. There are a couple of newspaper cuttings loosely inserted in it.

3. [Holocaust] Richard Feist - Search Bureau Collection [10420]

Personal archive of Private Richard Michael Feist (Service No. 14458550, East Surrey Regiment) Feist was a member of the Jewish Brigade and was transferred to the Search Division of the British Army of the Rhine (BAOR) which was responsible for tracing missing persons. £8,750

The archive contains

- unique manuscript material – large quantities of letters in several languages relating to the search for missing relatives
- internal secret British army documents relating to Jewish DPs
- rare cyclostyled newsletters
- list of missing persons in the months and early years after camp liberation
- cyclostyled history of the Search Bureau
- report on the Search in Belsen
- 3 page typed diary in German of the last days of Buchenwald before liberation
- handwritten list of camps and the current situation in them

- report on on Sandbostel Camp
- list of information on Breslau Jews

The archive contains several different categories of documents:

- A collection of personal documents relating to Richard Feist including his army rations, call-up papers, letters from the Army to his home address etc.
- Over 100 letters in English which included requests for assistance
- Approx. 80 German letters to Feist requesting help searching for family members
- Approximately 50 letters in Hebrew to Feist
- A photographic album showing members of the search committee
- Letters from various organizations such as the World Jewish Congress etc
- Official forms requesting information pertaining to missing persons
- Samples of certificates given to people who helped.

This important archive is an extensive body of primary source material that will assist researchers to understand the process and logistics needed to address the huge task of searching for missing persons created in the aftermath of the Holocaust. It will help to:

- establish the names of those who perished in the Holocaust and where possible, their place and date of death.
- analyse the departments and organizations involved including the Search Bureau for Missing Persons run by the BAOR, UNWRA and the Jewish Agency
- demonstrate how documentation was used for obtaining information - the archive includes relevant forms such as the Search Bureau Control Commission – Enquiry Concerning Missing Persons Forms (BAOR) , and DP registration form issued by the American Expeditionary Force (AEP)
- understand the personal anguish and distress felt by relatives searching for missing persons through the letters Feist received.

After nearly five months the persecution still continues unabated, and has now been placed on a statutory basis. The Nazi terrorism is being directed with particular ferocity against Jewish masses in Germany."

..... "Jewish Men and Women of All Classes! We call upon you to participate in this National Demonstration which will take place on July 20th." signed by Dr D Jochehman. £195

Three Classical Midrashim Printed in Venice in the mid-16th Century. 2 from the Famous Press of Daniel Bomberg.

Daniel Bomberg (d circa 1550) was one of the most prominent printers of Hebrew books in the 16th Century. Most famously he published and printed the first full set of the Talmud 1520-1523. In total he published about 200 Hebrew books. Bomberg who was a Christian, was interested in books and realised there was a need to publish Hebrew books. In 1516 he obtained the rights to print Hebrew books for the Jews, and printed many Rabbinic and Midrashic texts. Below are 2 very nice copies of Midrashic texts he printed and a third using very similar typography from the press of the Dei Farri Brothers.

36. Pirkei D'Reb Eliezer. Venice, Brothers Dei Farri, 1544. [10496]

Second edition. Full leather modern binding, 19.5 cm a very nice clean copy. The first edition was published in Constantinople in 1514. The Pirkei D'Reb Eliezer is a classic narrative Midrash believed to be compiled in the 8th or 9th Century CE. Vinograd 229. The Dei Farri Brothers printed 12 Hebrew books. £1,850

37. Mechilta. Venice, Daniel Bomberg, 1545. [10497]

Second edition. 31 cm modern binding, a very clean copy. The first edition was published in Constantinople in 1515. The Mechilta is a Tannaitic Midrash or Halachic Midrash on the book of Exodus. Vinograd 244, Habermann Hamadfis Daniel Bomberg 180 £1,850

38. Midrash Tanchuma. Venice, Daniel Bomberg, 1545. [10498]

Second edition. 30cm The first edition was printed in Constantinople in 1520. A very nice clean copy in a 20th century cloth binding. Known also as the Midrash Yelamdenu, it is an important Midrash and frequent source of Rashi's commentary on the Bible. Vinograd 243, Habermann Hamadfis Daniel Bomberg 177. £2,250

39. Diary/Album Written Around the End of the Palestine Mandate and the War of Independence (1946-1949) 1948/49 [10500] £1,250

MS diary history charting the end of the Mandate period. The anonymous author has written a narrative of the events leading to the termination of the Palestine Mandate. They have interspersed their reporting of events with newspaper cuttings and photographs from newspapers and photographic journals such as the London Illustrated News making a very interesting historical document. The diary starts by giving a brief historical context after which the writer gives continuous coverage of the period 1946 to 1949. There is a running commentary on the establishment of the Yishuv, building of the settlement and the struggle against the Arabs. A unique personal diary of contemporary events. The diary reports on some anti-Jewish activities of the British Soldiers and Palestine Police, the failure of Palestine conferences, increasing violence between all parties, illegal immigration and the first few months of the newly established State of Israel.

40. Abrahams, A. (editor) - The Jewish Weekly, The Jewish Family Journal [Bound Volume] Complete Run? London, 1932. [10478]

A bound volume 36cm, from issue 1, 22nd April 1932 to issue 30, 11th November 1932. Some issues have 18 pages some 16 and one or two have 20. The first few issues start at page 3 so there must have been a preliminary page of ads for these issues which has not been bound in. This is probably the complete run. In Fraenkel, The Jewish Press in Great Britain 1823-1963, the date given for publication is for 1932 only. There is an interesting mix of politics, including the rise of Nazism and immigration to Palestine. Communal issues and politics Kasbrut, Shochtim, Shomrim etc. Stories, reviews and a children's page Young Judea and some interesting advertisements. The volume is in very good condition, buckram cloth with leather labels, there is some wear to the label on the spine.

This is the infamous organ of antisemitic propaganda An SS picture book with numerous contrasting photographs of the Aryans - contrasted with the "Sub-Humans" There are also numerous scenes of destruction and corpse etc on the Eastern Front. "As long as there have been men on the earth, the struggle between man and the subhuman will be the historic rule; the Jewish-led struggle against the mankind, as far back as we can look, is part of the natural course of life on our planet. One can be convinced with full certainty that this struggle for life and death is just as much a law of nature as is the struggle of an infection to corrupt a healthy body." Reichsführer-SS Heinrich Himmler 1935. The overall condition is good.

- Her Majesty's Stationery Office HMSO Russia. No. 2 (1882): Correspondence respecting the Treatment of Jews in Russia. [In Continuation of "Russia No 1"]

London, Her Majesty's Stationery Office 1882 [8054] Unbound, sewn, 32.5cm, 41 pp. Overall condition good, some yellowing to pages. [C.3250]

Included is correspondence regarding "Attacks directed against the Jews... Agitation against the Jews... Proclamations issued inciting the lower classes to rise against the Jews and wealthy classes... Deputation of Jews received by Emperor at Gatchina... Major-General Kutaisoff sent by Emperor to inquire into causes of anti-Jewish riots in South Russia... Recent disturbances at Warsaw..." In the first report, dated May 16, 1881, from St. Petersburg: "Serious riots have taken place at Elizabethgrad, at Kieff, and in other towns, the attack of the mob having been directed against the Jews. The authorities appear to have been unable to quell the disturbances until after an enormous destruction of property, and in some cases loss of life had taken place. A large English firm here have telegraphed orders to stop delivery of their goods at Kieff, and I hear that the Austrian Consul there was recommended that Austrian firms should not send any goods there for the present, owing to want of security..."

76. Mendelsohn, Moses. - Netivot Olam. Berlin, George Friedrich Starcke 1780-1783 [10483]

Contemporary full leather. 8vo. (24),8,(2),299; (1),204; (2),218; 144; 125, (1) lvs. First edition of the Pentateuch with German translation and Biur by Mendelsohn and his circle. Complete with the Haskamot, foreword and poem by N.H. Wessely and the unfinished Hakdamah by S. Dubno. Only the book of Devarim has a title page, and it also has a list of subscribers. The book of Exodus has a half title and general (unfinished introduction) The book of Vayikra has a half title and introduction by Naphtali Herz Wessely, Bereishit has a half-title and Bamidar does not have a half title Zedner 111; Roest 182; Meyer nr. 250; Vinograd, Berlin 314.

This is the first edition of the famous Mendelsohn's Biur (explanation). The commentary is based on traditional rabbinic sources but also has a translation into German in Hebrew characters. Mendelsohn and his followers saw the importance of the Jewish community in learning German. Initially it had several rabbinic approbations but was later attacked by some of the traditional Rabbis as facilitating acculturation and assimilation. .
